Milwaukee won the championship race in the American association this season. The season is not yet closed but recent games clinched the pennant for the team. The second place lies between Minneapolis and Louisville.
Capt. Doyle and Manager McGraw will undoubtedly use Charley Herzog, the former Brave, at third base in the coming world's series. Herzog was one of the mainstays of the Giants last season, leading the batting list of both teams. The choice for this position is between Shafer and Herzog, but the latter will land the place owing to the showing he has made during the season. In case either Doyle or Snodgrass should be kept out of the game Shafer will be rushed in.

ABOUT THE STATE

HAPPENINGS OF INTEREST FROM DIFFERENT SECTIONS
Ormond Cole of Burlington remembers that 70 years ago October 25, 1843, there was a snow fall of about 12 inches. The winter which followed was a severe one and the snow lay on the ground until the following spring.

One of the most interesting achievements in the history of the Lyndonville Village Improvement society is the installation of ornamental lights on the Main street park. Four standards are mounted at equal distance from the fountain, each standard bearing five lights.

Serg. T. W. Jordan, quartermaster sergeant of the quartermaster corps and stationed at Fort Ethan Allen, has received his honorable discharge after 30 years of service, and will go in a few days to Washington, D. C. His retirement pay is $67.50 a month, and he will receive this until his death.

The St. Johnsbury Young Men's Christian association has just fitted up a dark room in its building for the use of the photographers who are members. The association has recently added a large number of technical magazines to its reading room list. The St. Johnsbury association has begun the publication of a monthly association bulletin.

Frank Carpenter of Concord is suffering from serious injuries to one leg caused by falling and the wheel of a wagon loaded with stones passing the length of his leg. No bones were broken but the leg was badly bruised and the bones of the ankle crushed. Had they not been at work on plowed ground, Mr. Carpenter's injuries would undoubtedly have been more serious.

E. R. Murray of Boston, an apple buyer, who has visited Vermont regularly for 17 years, says that the apple crop in the state at large is about one-quarter of the average. The price paid for the first-class apples by buyers is $2.50 to $3.25 a barrel. Mr. Murray predicts that No. 1 winter apples of the Northern Spy type will bring $5 a barrel in the larger city markets by December.

Navigation between Lake Champlain and New York City will be possible this year until Nov. 30, according to the announcement of Darius W. Beck, state superintendent of public works in New York. This will be the latest season since the commencement of work on the barge canal, eight years ago, although it will not be the longest season, as it did not open until June 13.

Davis & Davis, patent attorneys at Washington, D. C., report the grant this week to citizens of this state of the following patents: William L. Bryan of Springfield, chucks; Charles E. Scribner of Jericho, assignor to Western Electric Co., New York, telegraph transmitter; Albert L. Miner of Bellows Falls, dilating springs. Trade-marks, Allen L. Earle of Chester Depot, remedy for asthma and hay fever.

The Drury Brick & Tile company of Essex Junction has closed its brick making machines for the season. The demand has been so large this year that many orders could not be filled. The output for the season is upward of six millions. The company has experienced some difficulty in procuring sufficient help and is considering installing some improved machinery to facilitate the handling of brick as well as to increase the volume of business.

The U. S. civil service commission will hold a stenographer and typewriter examination at White River Junction on November 8, 1913, for the purpose of filling a vacancy in the position of male stenographer and typewriter at $800 per annum in the office of the chief clerk, railway mail service, White River Junction.
Eligibles may also be certified for filling similar vacancies occurring in the U. S. immigration service, Montreal, Can., and in Maine, New Hampshire, and Vermont. Both men and women will be admitted to this examination, which is open to all citizens of the United States who meet the requirements. Age limit, 18 years or over on the date of examination.
Application form 1371 and pamphlet of information may be obtained from Mr. Pearl H. Dunn, local secretary, at the White River Junction postoffice, or Edward E. Stebbins, dist. secretary, P. O. bldg., Boston, Mass. Applications must be filed with the latter on or before Nov. 3, 1913.

DEATH BY CARBOLIC ACID.
George E. Leclair, Burlington Barber, Killed Himself.
Burlington, Oct. 27.—George E. Leclair, a barber at 164 Battery street, committed suicide by carbolic acid Saturday morning in his room over the shop.
Mr. Leclair had been in failing health for a long time with sugar diabetes and his physical condition it is believed impaired his mind.
Mr. Leclair, as usual, called his assistant, William Thibadeau, who sleeps in the next room. The assistant got up, went down stairs and opened the shop. Later Leclair came down and remained a few minutes, subsequently returning to his rooms. When Thibadeau got through shaving a customer and did his employer down and receiving no response, visited his room where he found Leclair stretched upon the bed dead. He had put on his shirt, trousers and stockings and tied his night shirt about his neck, which gave rise to the rumor that he had choked himself to death.
Officer Fraser, who was on duty near by, was called and he receiving no response, visited his room where he found Leclair stretched upon the bed dead. He had put on his shirt, trousers and stockings and tied his night shirt about his neck, which gave rise to the rumor that he had choked himself to death.
Arrangements were made for the removal of the body and the dead man's personal effects were looked into. The sum of $8.57 in currency was found in his pockets.
Mr. Leclair it appears, belonged to the Barber's union, and was a member of the Eagles. His assistant says that he had several times acted strangely and was evidently of unsound mind.

One of the star performers with the University of Pittsburgh football team is a person named Wagner.

VERMONT SECOND IN TALC.

New York State Stands at Head in United States.
The people of the United States are using more talc than ever, not alone for toilet powder, for that is but a comparatively unimportant use to which the mineral is put, but in the arts and industries. The marketed production of talc and soapstone in the United States in 1912, according to an advance chapter on the production of talc and soapstone in 1912 by J. S. Diller, just issued by the United States geological survey, was 159,270 short tons, valued at $1,706,963, against 143,551 short tons, valued at $1,046,018, in 1911. The production in 1912 was the largest in the history of the industry.

With the exception of a small production in California the entire output of talc and soapstone in the United States comes from a comparatively narrow belt of ancient crystalline rocks running through the Atlantic states from Vermont to Georgia. The three leading producing states are New York, Vermont, and Virginia, followed by Georgia, Maryland, Massachusetts, New Jersey, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island and California. More than 42 per cent of the total output of the United States in 1912 came from New York.

The total marketed production of talc for 1912 was 133,289 short tons, valued at $1,097,483, a decided increase compared with the production of 1911; the output of soapstone in 1912 was 25,981 short tons, valued at $600,480, a gain in quantity and in value compared with the production of 1911.

By far the most important use of talc is in the manufacture of paper, but there is a large demand for it in the manufacture of rubber. Talc is not only mixed in the rubber throughout its body but is used on the surface to free the rubber from the molds. Another important use of talc is in sizing and bleaching cotton cloth. On account of its high insulating qualities with reference to both electricity and heat talc is employed in the manufacture of many forms of insulators, among which is the covering of electric wires and switchboards, and the flooring for electric substations. It is also used largely in the manufacture of toilet powder and of paints, particularly waterproof paints, as well as for foundry facing in casting iron. The talc for which there is perhaps the greatest demand in the United States is the compact variety used for pencils, gas tips, and high grade insulators.

Soapstone is used most extensively in the manufacture of laundry tubs. The larger slabs are used for table tops and for acid tanks in chemical, biologic, photographic, and many other laboratories, as well as for switchboards, flooring, and panels in electric stations. In some parts of the country hearstones and stoves are made of it; it has a still wider application in stove and furnace lining, and when ground it is useful for floors facing. Foot warmers and griddles are made of it, and an increasing use is found in the manufacture of fireless cookers.

A copy of the report may be obtained free on application to the director of the United States geological survey, Washington, D. C.

Large Gypsum Production.
The production of gypsum in 1911 was the greatest in the history of the industry, according to the United States geological survey, the amount of gypsum consumed being 2,500,000 short tons. The value of gypsum and gypsum products was $6,563,908, an increase of $101,873 over 1911. In 1880 only 90,000 tons of gypsum were produced; in 1900 the production was 500,000 tons.

The bulk of the gypsum produced in the United States is manufactured by grinding and partial or complete calcination into the various plasters, such as plaster of paris, molding and casting plaster, stucco, cement plaster, flooring plaster, and hard-finish plaster. Un-ground grades of plaster used in dental work for making pottery molds, stereotype molds, molds for rubber stamps, and as an ingredient in various patent cements. A steadily increasing quantity is being used in the new state as a retarder in Portland cement. Considerable quantities are ground without burning and used as land plaster; smaller quantities are used in the manufacture of paint, wall tints, crayons, paper, imitation meerschaum and ivory, and as an adulterant. The pure white massive form, known as alabaster, is much used by sculptors for interior ornamentation, less, however, in this country than abroad.
